If your bank-locker is in the basement, check this! Bank not responsible if locker room of SBI Bank in Rajkot gets waterlogged, cash-documents get soaked: Manager

Rajkot Rajkot city is experiencing rainy weather for the fourth consecutive day. The city has already received 24 inches of rain in 3 days with scattered drizzle. On Tuesday night itself, the rain started picking up strength. Due to which the system started rescue and evacuation work. It started raining heavily at 4 o'clock in the morning and within four hours a water-bombing situation was created. Because of this, public life came to a standstill. In low-lying areas there was a flood where people were drowned. The locker room of SBI Bank's Gymkhana branch near Trikoni Bagh in the city has been inundated with large amounts of water. Due to which the customers are seeing anger along with concern. On the other hand, according to the bank manager, since yesterday, 3 different motors are being installed to drain the water. Also, if the intensity of rain remains low till this evening, the water will be removed. After learning about this, Divya Bhaskar's team reached the Gymkhana branch of SBI Bank. Where the locker room cellar was found to be inside and almost chest filled with water. So, water was being extracted by putting 3 different motors by the employees of the bank. However, since the motor was of very small capacity and the rain was constant, it was found that it took a long time to extract the water in this way. In a telephonic conversation, a customer named Kaushik Sarteja, who owns a locker in this bank, said, "I have put documents in the locker." I went to get it yesterday as I needed it. The locker room was then found to be full of water. This is gross negligence of the bank. Due to which there is a possibility of huge loss to the customers. The water extraction operation has been started in this regard. But the motor placed for this is of very low capacity. He also demanded that the water should be removed immediately by placing a motor of higher capacity as the water is full. Bank not responsible if cash or document gets wet: Bank-Manager talking to Branch Manager Viren Raja about this whole matter, he said that due to heavy rain yesterday, the locker room got waterlogged. This water is coming from the ground. Due to which the water level has risen today despite the decrease in rain after yesterday. Customers are prohibited from keeping cash and documents in the lockers. However, if someone keeps it and it gets wet, the bank is not responsible for it. "As the water is coming from the ground, we have not been able to remove it," he added, adding that we had contacted the municipal administration in this matter. But because it was a private place, they refused to remove this water. Following which we decided to remove the water by putting the motor ourselves. Also, from the place where only one shop was open in the rain yesterday, by taking a water motor, three motors of different capacity have been placed here and the water extraction operation has been started. However, due to the fact that the water comes from the ground, there has not been much success so far. But if the intensity of rain decreases, the water will be removed by evening.
